

Kommt Ihr G'spielen

The melody originates from a hunting song which still in the new context can be felt in the rhythm.

The first verse invites the musicians to play for the people. The second verse says that the place is awaking, dogs are barking, because the musicians brake the silence of the place.

The last verse calls to the musicians to give their very best. They should recall that their job is to help people to relax.